

Cambridge. January 2, 1882.

My dear Mrs. Marsh

Let me begin my letter with good wishes to you for this new year, - and with the old words, May it be a happy new year to you!

I thank you once more for a very kind letter, and for what you have done for us in the troublesome business of the copying of the Benvenuto comment. Professor Villari's arrangement with Sgt. Benigni is in all respects
