

The Mostly Unfabulous Social Life of ETHAN GREEN

by Eric Orner

MEET MAMA

Let me tell you something: Just like his Daddy, this President hasn't spent a day in his life worrying about how he's gonna make this month's mortgage payment. He's never spent a day in his life worrying about losing his job... Or how he's gonna pay for the groceries...

Source: In 2001, a woman named Mama said to be this famous Congresslady.

And now, of course, just like his Out-of-Touch, Silver Spooned daddy, this President is too busy GEO STRATEGIZIN' to notice that too many folks in America are OUT of work and RUNNIN' LOW on hope for a better future.

I've been calling you all weekend. Had your phone off didn't you?

Chill, Latrice.

I want Ethan here to enjoy Mama's speech.

Your cell was off too. And your voice mail at work's full. We needed you for a family photo for Mama's campaign website.

Uh huh. I wonder why when I went over to the zoo on Saturday, your assistant said you hadn't been in since Thursday...

I was at the zoo all weekend. The penguins have the flu.

Anyway, here she comes...

Nice meeting you Ethan.

Is Latrice henpecking you baby?

Nuthin' I can't handle Mama. Nice speech.

Mama, I brought along a new friend I want you to meet.

OH?

It's so cool to, I mean, an honor to meet you.

I loved when you called Ashcroft a little island of stupid in a big sea of dumb!

Well thank you, Ethan.

I'm glad you take an interest in public affairs. Maybe you can persuade my son to do the same.

He looks like JEROME.

Mama, he doesn't look a thing like Jerome!

Jerome?

Give 'em hell Gayle!

He's white like Jerome...
