

Pigs Do Fly

bumper sticker in the parking lot, but those folks still came into the store without controversy.

I often drive by this colorful haven near the corner of Route 7 and Ferry Road. I can tell a lot by scanning the storefront. Lots of cars in the gravel parking lot means school just let out. If the rainbow flag is not flying, it must be after 6pm. An early crowd tells me it's the Thursday morning story hour. No matter the time, I always smile as I pass. It's another world in there and you might want to check it out, long before pigs fly. Some of Josie and Elizabeth's recent favorites, as well as a list of every children's book they know featuring a major character of the porcine variety, can be found at www.flyingpig-books.com. ▼
