Downpour to Drizzle, We Danced

Dragons, drums, and dancing, oh my! From Outright's dragon puppet to the Queer Liberation Army, from 'Lesbian' Richard Kemp, to the Veterans for Peace, from Republican Dan Stewart (at right) walking with Progressive/Democrat Peter Clavelle, from churches bearing banners to Uhaul-driving dykes, there was a diverse parade of queers and allies marching, dancing, and singing in the rain on Vermont's Pride Day July 9. The 300-400 stalwart (and raincoated) souls who showed up in a rain that veered from drizzle to downpour didn't let it faze them when it came to honoring our history and celebrating our joy.
