

Johnson, Vermont.
Apr. 30, 1887.

Dear Little Sister:-

I have not received my regular letter from home to-day, but I will write a few lines to you.

I have been to work, all day and to-night I am tired.

This week with all the rest our class have been getting up a reception.

It came off quite nicely. I came off near having a piece, but was so hoarse I did not dare to try it:

but I had a short dialogue with one of the aller girls. It was a regular burlesque & took tip-top.

I was on as one of the committee of literary exercises & we had some quite jolly dialogues etc.

There were quite a large number in and Newcomb, & Miss Beacher, Mr. Hill & I were "introduction committee," to introduce those who were not acquainted you know and also to see that they were entertained before our exercises began. We had a jolly time of it. I was dressed as an old lady of 40 yrs. ago in our dialogue, will tell you about it when I see you.