

VII.

Jeffersonville, Vt.
March 3, 1888.

My dear classmates:-

This letter reached me to-day, and I assure you all, it was a welcome visitor. But, by the time it reaches me again, it will be still more welcome, as it will then contain something from all the members of the class. Many of you I have heard from, others I have not, and I will say to those to whom I promised to write, and