

Montpelier Apr. 27, 1858

My Friend Marsh

As Powers has arranged to go to Boston to-day there is some prospect that justice will be delayed. I am in hope that you and the rest will come as we had anticipated, and look the matter over. As it is now there is no head. He is in as one of the Trustees of that Rail Road, and a meeting being held the state work must till Monday care for itself. We needed him at the meeting but if it so be that the commissaries come as we arranged so be it, the work and not him is on trial. I can hardly bear to think that there is at this