My Friend Marsh, your letter of the 20th. inspired ^{me with} new confidence in your influence and determinations. Providentially, I had prepared and sent to you a large drawing with figures explanatory &c. for the dome curve. I felt much aggrieved, that I should be under the necessity of doing as I do with my own work. I hope the drawing will aid you tomorrow. I am exceedingly glad I made it and sent it so timely. For it will I think tend to avert their botchings. They are of course all ready to declare that such was not their intention but I am fully posted in all things pertaining to that work. Had I not taken the bull by the horns when I did long ere this all that curved work would have been got out and with intense amendments. They were all ready to execute what they had drawn. Knowing that I was about and injured they instead can try to make pretense of desire to do as you wished. no consultation was there till I foiled their proceeding. I am thankful they made that big drawing on the floor it is full proof of their intentions for it is entirely unlike the original or my section. They had boath in their possession.
I shall now try and breathe freer and next week Sunday will go to M. and see what is being done. They are disposed to injure me but all I want is the right thing done
