My dear wife:

Your letter finished
Monday morning is just recd.
I am glad to get so long a letter from & I am sorry indeed that you have so many trials. I know how uncomfortable such things make one, and when you have so little strength I am sorry to have you so troubled. I shall be glad when Lena gets quite well & her nurse is gone. Just as soon as you can, I think you had better break up home keeping. Not that I wish to leave you, but it troubles you so much that it makes me feel sad every time I hear from you.
