Dear Father Mother & Brothers Again I am allowed to inform you of my whereabouts. It has been a long time since we corresponded, but that could not be avoided for it has been my fate to be deprived since the 23^d of last June the privilege of writing for which I feel very sorry, but the most I think of now is whether you are all as well as when I last heard from you, I suppose you have long wondered where I was, or if you never or imagined where I was you thought it strange that while so many were exchanged that I was not among them.
So I suppose you have been filled with doubt & fear all the while about my being a live, but you see now that
