My Dear Sister -

As usual I will enclose a line in mother's letter, to you.

To day is Wednesday & I have not yet read my papers. They are made out & sent to Washington with others to be approved & have not yet been sent back - I expect them every day but possibly may not get them this week, in fact I know nothing about when they will come, tho' the Dr. said he expected them this week without fail. Perhaps I may not get around home as soon as I wrote you I expected to, but think if I can get my
