GAYLA - Gay Men's Personal Growth Conference to Be Held in Maine

GAYLA IX, a gay men's conference, will take place July 11-18 at the Unitarian camp Ferry Beach in Saco, Maine.

Gay men will gather at this conference for the ninth year to enjoy, play, share, grow and endorse one another. GAYLA offers a spiritual and educational experience in which gay men come together for a week to form community, to be themselves, and to share the joy of being gay with others. Young and old, closeted and gay pride leaders are all welcome.

Workshop topics will include Personal Growth, Current Gay Issues, Love Relationships, Six Sayings that Make Our Emotional Life More Round, Self Massage, Relaxation, Issues Couples and Individuals Face, Homophobia, Maintaining Health, Aging, Personal Finances, Spiritual Awareness and Gay Community. Other activities will include sightseeing, films, a talent show, singing, free time and the beach.

Coordinators: John Calvi-a massage therapist in private practice and specializing in people healing from trauma, a folksinger and a troubador; Bill Gardner-an attorney familiar with the legal aspects of being gay; Tom Konkoly-a specialist in communications and coordinator of GAYLA VIII; Dave Smith, Ed.D.-an educator and researcher on homosexuality, with experience as an educator about AIDS.

The conference fee is $40.00 for adults. For more information, write to FBPA, 5 Morris Ave, Saco, ME 04072.
