

The LESBIAN AVENGERS

are coming to Burlington

Across the country, the Christian Right has targeted lesbians and gay men as the scourge of the '90s. The Lesbian Avengers, a direct action group committed to issues of lesbian survival and visibility, will be coming to Burlington as part of a campaign throughout New England to raise awareness of the strategies and goals of the Christian Right. The group's Northeast tour will culminate in Lewiston, Maine, where an anti-gay referendum—and the momentum behind it—has put lesbians and gay men there under siege.
