

Jamie Anderson to Perform on Vermont Pride Day

Peter Thomas

Ranked right up there with Alix Dobkin, Holly Near and k.d. Lang, Jamie Anderson is considered an all-time favorite performer by the readers of Hot Wire, a women's music and culture journal. Jamie will bring her strong voice, humorous songs and personable stage manner to Vermont for the first time for Vermont's Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Pride Day, Saturday, June 4th in Burlington. Her performance will be after the March at Burlington's Battery Park.

Jamie's humor is evident in Wedding Song: "Sure I'll come to your wedding/But I'll dance with the bride." and in I'm Sorry: "I'm sorry that you're straight, it can't be your fault? Have you tried counseling or talking to God? There's lots that you can do? There's help for people like you/You could change, if you wanted to." However, Jamie does have a serious side as is exemplified by One Out of Three, a poignant ballad about lesbians and breast cancer.

Jamie's performance promises to be one of warmth and affirmation. You'll want to be there. ▼
