MIDDLEBURY -- And just what is Lesbomania? Come find out when Chicago columnist and confirmed lesbian Jorjet Harper brings her special brand of humor and political insight to Vermont. Harper will be a keynote speaker for the Vermont Coalition for Lesbian and Gay Rights 2nd Annual Conference: A Queer Town Meeting, scheduled for Saturday, November 12th at Middlebury College.

In addition to publishing over 400 interviews, reviews, articles, and commentary in publications throughout the country, Harper has been the Arts and Entertainment Editor of Outlines, a Chicago lesbian and gay news journal. She currently writes a monthly humor column, "Lesbomania", which delights both lesbians and gay men alike with an entertaining look at lesbian and gay life in the '90's. A book of her collected columns, Lesbomania, has recently been published by Vermont's own New Victoria Publishers and will be available the day of the Conference.

Harper is scheduled to give her keynote speech during the day and will also present "Lesbomania: An Evening of Matriarchal Mayhem", a riotous slide show accompanying readings of her most popular columns, in the early evening. ▼
