GENDER-VARIANT FILM
CO216
Peggy Lubrs

TUESDAY, 7:00 - 10:00 P.M.

Entry level credit (upper level credit option)

In this course we will look at film through the lens of gender-variant points of view. We will survey films made by and/or about lesbians and gay men. We will cast a critical eye at Hollywood constructions of gender and take a historical tour of homosexuality in cinema from the 1930's to the present. The course will introduce a range of current film theorists concerned with gender and film and encourage participants to develop a personal filmic point of view. We will divide the class time, about evenly, between screenings and film discussions. Upper level prerequisite: upper level standing. Fee: $50.00.
