

"Space Vixens" Land in Burlington

by Chris Tebbetts

BURLINGTON -- The name of the show is "Saucy Jack and the Space Vixens." It's a "glam rock" cabaret musical and represents a relative departure for the often serious-minded Green Candle Theatre Company, whose offerings last year included "Losing Steam" and the lesbian love story "A Closet Year." "Space Vixens" will be making its North American debut with a run at 135 Pearl in Burlington at the end of this month.

So just what are Space Vixens? "They're interstellar super-fashion crime-fighting space cops, come to save the day with the power of disco," says Chris Ziter, the show's director. Ziter portrayed Booby, the galactic transvestite and vixen wannabe, in the show's original cast. He is a Burlington resident and was invited by Green Candle to direct this production. After that, the show is slated for productions in London and New York City.

Set in the seedy environs of a dead-end dive at the end of the galaxy, the play revolves around a search for the Slingback Killer, who has been offing the cabaret acts unlucky enough to be booked into Saucy Jack's bar. Enter the Space Vixens, who help twist the plot to its glitzy conclusion.

The lower level of 135 Pearl will be transformed into Saucy Jack's for the run of the show. Audiences will be seated cabaret style and will be free to interact with the performers. "It's like 'Rocky Horror' in outer space," says 135 Pearl's owner and manager, Robert Toms, who also plays Mitch the bartender. Booing for the baddies and cheering for the heroes (read: Vixens) are encouraged. The message of the show, says Ziter, is "unlace your glitter boots and groove onto a higher galaxy; let out things you might be afraid of letting out. And have a really good time while you're doing it." ▼

"Saucy Jack and the Space Vixens" will play at 135 Pearl on October 17, 18, 19 and 24-30 at 8:00 p.m., with a midnight show on October 30. Suggested donation of $7 to $15 includes admission and a drink coupon. For more information, call Green Candle Theatre Company at 983-7333; tickets are also available by calling 86-FLYNN.

Great Gay Orientation Planned

BURLINGTON -- The Vermont CARES Men's Health Project (MHP) and Outright Vermont will present "The Great Gay Orientation" on October 23 at the Fletcher Free Library in Burlington. The event begins at 6:30 p.m.

"It's a chance for the men in our community to see what's going on — socially, culturally, professionally, politically — and to see how they might get involved," says Chris Tebbetts of MHP.

A similar event was held in Rutland earlier this year, with presentations by such groups as Vermont Gay Social Alternatives, the Vermont Coalition for Lesbian and Gay Rights, Outright Vermont, and Out in the Mountains. The Burlington event will have a wider scope "to reflect the diversity of community activity here," says Outright's Tage Lilja. Additional presenters will include the Rainbow Business Association, Mountain Pride Media, various college gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgendered groups, and many others.

"This should be a reciprocal event," says Tebbetts. "Organizations can benefit from greater participation, and individuals can benefit from a heightened awareness of what the community has to offer."

The Great Gay Orientation is free and open to the public. For more information, call the Men's Health Project at (800) 649-2437 or Outright Vermont at (800) GLB-CHAT. ▼

We're growing (again)!

Space has been tight in our pages for some time now, so we soon hope to unveil a new look for Out in the Mountains. In the meantime, our apologies to those whose creative work has been bumped from our pages!
